

all
correct

determining an actual width of [a] an image producible by the digital video signal; $in\ m_i$ iteratively adjusting the digital video signal until the actual width equals the expected width. END
